"HOW ABOUT ME FOR A PLAYMATE?"

Christmas is for children, the saying goes, and certainly the magic spell of the season abounds for youngsters everywhere these days. You just have to look at the faces of children as they pile up under Christmas trees, and as preparations are made for hanging up the traditional Christmas stockings. Illustrating the delights that toy departments hold for children is this picture of three-year-old Susan Quemby, cuddling up to

School Board To Dip Into Emergency Fund For Buses

A condemnation order from the Superintendent of Motor Vehicles will take three Kelowna and district school buses from the roads and put another on standby basis. As a result the board will purchase two, possibly three, 55-passenger buses from emergency funds in 1961. The order follows a check made by Kelowna detachment RCMP on all the area's school buses. Fred Macklin, school board secretary-treasurer, said today the bi-annual inspections are "routine". Condemned are three old buses which seat a total of 147 passengers. A fourth bus, seating 37 passengers, will be relegated to standby basis.

Bennett Will Meet Fleming On Columbia

OTTAWA (CP) — A letter by Finance Minister Fleming to Premier Bennett of British Columbia, seeking a personal meeting on the Columbia River problem, was made public today.

It was known Thursday that the letter had been sent and Mr. Bennett said in Victoria Thursday night he is agreeable to meeting the finance minister, probably early in the new year.

It appeared likely that the meeting will precede further federal - B.C. talks scheduled here Jan. 3 and 4 before final treaty negotiations with the United States take place here Jan. 5 and 6.

Mr. Fleming's letter echoed his public statements, expressing regret that Mr. Bennett had rejected a $172,000,000 loan to assist in financing a $458,000,000 program on the Columbia River. That offer was "extraordinarily generous," said the letter, and "trust that your rejection may have been due to a misunderstanding of the nature and effect of the offer."

A personal meeting was proposed to "remove any misunderstandings."

Russia Asks Britain To Help End Laos Strife

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia has asked Britain to co-operate in calling a meeting of governments which took part in the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina to discuss the crisis in Laos, the Soviet news agency Tass reported today.

The note also asked Britain to help revive the international commission of observers and control in Laos, India, Canada and Poland were members of the commission.

The Soviet proposals were contained in a note which deputy foreign minister Vasily Kuznetsov handed to the British ambassador in Moscow, Sir Frank Roberts, Thursday.

Russia and Britain were co-chairmen of the 1954 conference, which established a cease-fire after nine years of fighting between the French and Communists in Indochina. Indochina, former French territory, now consists of the separate states of North and South Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia.

ADJOURNED IN 1958 The international supervisory commission set up in 1954 to maintain peace in Laos was adjourned indefinitely in 1958.

Laos was hit by civil war after the pro-Western government was overthrown Aug. 9 and a neutralist regime set up in its place. The neutralist government tried vainly to create a coalition with both right-wing rebels and pro-Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas, taking part.

The rightists seized the Laotian capital of Vientiane last week from neutralist and leftist forces after a four-day battle. India called last week for revival of the international commission in Laos.

The Soviet note replied to a British message earlier this week which expressed concern about the Laotian situation.

Winnie Leaves For Yule Holiday

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill, obviously recovered from a fall in which he broke a bone in his back five weeks ago, left town today for his traditional Christmas holiday at Chartwell, Kent.

With his wife Clementine, and smoking a cigar, Sir Winston departed by motor car on a 35-mile ride to preside over family festivities.

It was Sir Winston's first real outing since his accident at home Nov. 15.

Holding the arm of his personal detective, the 86-year-old Sir Winston grinned, stuck out his chin and waved as he negotiated the walk from his house door to the car.

Waiting at Chartwell were his own children and their children, plus in-laws. It will be a quiet celebration, the family said.

Walking Dr. Moore Hurt In Car Crash

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Barbara Moore, the long-distance walker, was injured in a car crash today. She was taken to a hospital for treatment of facial injuries and then released. Her car was slightly damaged.

Dr. Moore, 56, walked across the United States from coast to coast and from Montreal to Toronto this year.

Air Crash Costs Hit $15 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — Estimates of the cost of the Dec. 16 air collision here have run as high as $15,000,000 or more. No actual figures are yet available.

Insurance experts figure on the basis of $50,000 a person that death claims for the 136 victims will run to about $6,800,000.

TRANSISTOR RADIO SOUGHT IN WRECKAGE OF AIRLINER

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal official said today a personal transistor radio is believed to be in the wreckage of the United Air Lines DC-8 jet plane that collided with another plane last Friday over New York.

Philip N. Goldstein, co-ordinator of the Civil Aeronautics Board crash investigation, said he had sent two experts to check into the situation.

Goldstein said there was no evidence that such a radio affected the fatal flight but that "there have been cases where they affected flight instruments."

TWIN SISTER'S KIDNEY TRANSPLANT

Yule Gift May Save Girl's Life

BOSTON (AP) — Twelve-year-old twin sisters will spend Christmas far from their Manitoba home but they don't mind. They are in Boston so one can help save the other's life.

Lana Nightingale is happy that she can give her identical twin, Johanna, one of her healthy kidneys to supplant Johanna's which are diseased.

Most kidney transplants have been between identical twins because their tissues are identical and the recipient body will accept the transplanted organ. However, one successful transplant has been recorded at the hospital between twins who were not identical.

A hospital spokesman said today no date has been set for the operation. The technique actually entails two operations. The Bent Brigham Hospital will per-

FIST-FIGHT BREAKS OUT IN BELGIAN CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES

BRUSSELS (Reuters) — A fist-fight between Socialist and Labor Legislators broke out in the lower house of parliament tonight as deputies debated a mounting wave of strikes against the Belgian government's austerity plans. The fight soon involved nearly all the deputies present. Meanwhile an anti-austerity strike continued to spread.

Next Defence Spending To Be Virtually Unchanged

OTTAWA (CP) — The 1961-62 defence budget will amount to about $1,600,000,000 reliable informants said today.

Defence expenditures, in other words, will be about the same as in the current fiscal year which ends March 31, 1961. The 1960-61 defence budget is $1,596,000,000.

Spending on defence takes up about one-quarter of all federal outlays.

The treasury board, a cabinet committee, has approved the defence budget but it had a difficult time keeping it at about the 1960-61 level.

Main reason for this is that $150,000,000 had to be found for the CF-104 reconnaissance bomber program in 1961-62, double the amount required in the current fiscal year.

"Rebellious Tory" MP Quits When Bridge Built

CAMPBELLTON, N.B. (CP) — J. C. Van Horne said in a statement here today he has resigned the Restigouche-Madawaska seat he has held as a Progressive Conservative in the Commons since 1955.

Mr. Van Horne stated: "Both sides of the Campbellton-Cross Pt. bridge were joined across the Restigouche yesterday. In keeping, therefore, with an expressed undertaking made to my constituents some five years ago I hereby resign as a member of this House."

The reference was to a bridge spanning the Restigouche River between here and Cross Point, Que.

The 39-year-old Campbellton lawyer had a prominent part in efforts to obtain the bridge. He became known as the "rebellious Tory" for attacks on policies of his own party.

"Ready to Promote Better Relations"

MOSCOW (AP) — Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko said today the Soviet Union is ready to improve its relations with the United States following the inauguration of President-elect Kennedy.

Gromyko told the Supreme Soviet (parliament) that his government hopes U.S.-Soviet relations after Kennedy's inauguration will revert to the state they were in during the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt — a hope expressed by Premier Khrushchev in a cable last month congratulating Kennedy on his victory.

"The Soviet government expresses its hope that the present unfavorable atmosphere will be cleared," Gromyko said. "This would help by 100 times, the solution of many problems now unsettled."

"I am authorized to state that on the part of the Soviet government there is full readiness to promote the all-around betterment of Soviet-American relations."

Khrushchev was on the platform as Gromyko reviewed the international situation and Soviet foreign policy.

An expected foreign policy speech by Khrushchev did not take place and the session ended following unanimous approval of the government's foreign policy.

NO CHANGES FORECAST

Gromyko gave no indication that Soviet policy would be modified to improve relations with the United States.

Once more he blamed the "Eisenhower - Nixon administration" for the present state of U.S.-Soviet relations and the failure of the Paris summit conference.

He called again for a special summit session of the United Nations General Assembly in the spring on disarmament and attacked the Western powers as "opponents not only of disarmament but also of control over disarmament."

He claimed all neutral states now support the Soviet demand for speedy complete disarmament.

Gromyko called for "putting in order the structure of the United Nations bodies," a reference to the Soviet demand that Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld's control of the UN secretariat be replaced by a Communist-Western-Neutralist triumvirate.

NKRUMAH BACKED

Other points made by Gromyko included: The Soviet government fully supports Ghana President Kwame Nkrumah's proposal to bar nuclear weapons, nuclear weapon tests and foreign military bases from Africa.

ANDREI GROMYKO

Conversion of the North Atlantic alliance into a "nuclear power" will mean in practice the conversion of West Germany into a nuclear power.

Conclusion of a German peace treaty is the principal European problem dividing the Soviet Union and the Western powers.

Just Not His Christmas

PENTICTON (CP) — From Oliver comes the story of the little-tale Christmas tree.

An Oliver citizen went out into the woods, where it is illegal to cut trees, to pick up a Christmas tree for his home.

Choosing a tree to his liking he was well on the way to cutting it down when he spotted an RCMP car coming down the road. Quickly laying his implement down he casually turned his back and innocently began watching some children skating nearby.

But he had done his job too well and cut too deep. The tree took that particular moment to fall right on top of him.

300 Rural B.C. Families Get First "Bright" Christmas

VICTORIA (CP) — For 300 families living in rural areas of British Columbia this is the first Christmas they have had electric lights.

The B.C. Power Commission has completed five major rural electrification projects in the last year, most of them in the northern part of the province.

They are part of a three-year, $4,000,000 program announced last year which will make electricity available to 3,000 customers.

Three communities now have electricity and power generated at large centres has been extended into several rural areas.

The communities are Cherryville, 31 miles east of Vernon; Mountview, near McBride; and the Stony Creek Indian Reservation near Vanderhoof.

A SPECIAL MEETING WITH SANTA

It was a special sort of treat for eight-year-old Joyce Brown of 822 Rowell Ave., when she met Santa Claus at Shops Capri. And what did Joyce want for Christmas, asked Santa? "I want a hockey game," said Joyce. Santa didn't say whether he would bring her the Pentonwas or what, but we suspect Joyce will have some great excitement opening her present on Christmas Day. (Courier staff photo)

Crop Projections Vital To Future Of Industry

Crop projections as outlined in the 1960 tree census can be of vital importance to growers and agencies, said Don Sutherland, of B.C. Tree Fruits in his weekly report.

Mr. Sutherland said that with the census now at hand its value depended entirely on what use is made of it. The first essential had been to put the information provided into a form that would make crop trends readily apparent to those who have real need of that information.

The sales agency, for example can make good use of some idea of what the various crops will be five and ten years hence, he said. Do present markets in Western Canada have to be extended to the east, to the United States, or to the United Kingdom, or can the normal increase in population that was forecast by the Gordon Commission take care of increased production?

To provide some indication of what the future holds, the tree plantings that produced 1960's crop, were projected to 1965 and 1970 to give a picture of what their crop could be when they are five years and ten years older.

MONEY RETURN
These projections of future crops cannot be regarded as crop estimates. They are too long range for that, and the fruit growers know only too well how nature can upset any view of the future.

Nevertheless, a knowledge of the trends that are in motion now must be taken into consideration in planning, a crop projection provides the trend picture.

"As has been mentioned, the sales desk can make good use of it. So can growers. Anyone who plans to plant a new acreage or who must replace old trees, must, if he is to stay in business, plant the varieties and the strains that offer the best hope of returning the most money. The crop projections even indicate, in some cases, that it would be wise to change some varieties and strains of trees already planted to those that offer more promise, by budding or grafting now," said Mr. Sutherland.

With all this in mind the crop projections have been carefully considered by the selling agency from a marketing point of view, and by the Okanagan Agricultural Club from the standpoint of horticulture.

Together, they have prepared recommendations for planting that are of utmost importance to growers. The whole report, together with the crop projection pictures for 1965 and for 1970 will be published in the December issue of the BCFGA quarterly. It is hoped that each grower will make his decisions in the light of the recommendations and his own interpretation of the crop trends, he said.

A total of 2,505,734 boxes of apples of all varieties have now been shipped to the fresh market, 1,360,000 having gone to western Canada, reports B.C. Tree Fruits.

It is interesting to note the report states that of the six major cities through which distribution is funnelled to the west, Winnipeg has handled the greatest volume—just over one-fifth of total shipments to Western Canada.

Vancouver is next with almost as many—just under one-fifth. Edmonton, Calgary, Regina and Saskatoon follow in that order.

Shipments to Eastern Canada totalled 95,500 boxes by last weekend, almost half of them having gone to Toronto. Montreal and Newfoundland follow with almost one-fifth of Eastern Canadian shipments each, followed by smaller quantities to Ottawa, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

The total shipped to the fresh markets of the United States was 537,000 at the weekend.

Off-shore shipments have been increasing recently, with loadings here calculated to arrive at their destination in the New Year. Shipments to the United Kingdom stood at almost 300,000 boxes at last Saturday night. Some of almost every variety are taking part in this U.K. market, including 202,000 McIntosh, 95,000 red and ordinary Delicious, 8,600 Spartans, 30,000 Newtowns, 34,000 Winesaps, 11,000 Jonathans, 1,300 Golden Delicious, and a few hundred Stayman and Romes.

Other offshore markets had been shipped a total of 125,000 boxes by the weekend. These widespread markets include South Africa, the British West Indies, British Guiana, Fiji, India, Ceylon, Iceland, Panama, Singapore, Hong Kong, Sweden, Uruguay and Venezuela.

LESS WHEAT
Australia produced 194,000,000 bushels of wheat in 1959-60, a drop of 21,000,000 from the previous year.

Almost half the newspaper pages in the free world are printed on Canadian newsprint.

"MYSTERY" FIRE A WARNING TO ALL SCHOOL WORKSHOPS

Origin of a "mystery fire" at Rutland Junior-Senior High School, Dec. 9, is now believed to have been a steam pipe in contact with a stack of wooden display boards.

The fire resulted in the school being evacuated when it broke out, but damage was estimated slight at $150. Damage was confined to a storeroom in the industrial arts section of the building.

T. R. Carter said at a meeting of the Kelowna and district school board, Thursday, the display boards had evidently been touching the steam pipe and wiring on the boards burst into flame when they became hot.

The steam pipe, he said, had been installed when some alterations were made and had never been covered with asbestos. The incident should act as a warning to all our shops, he added.

Victor Sladen, $25 and costs for speeding in a 30-mile zone.

Students will not move into the new Dr. Knox Jr.-Sr. High School when the second term opens Jan. 5.

In a report to the Kelowna and District School Board, J. R. Hume, chairman of the building committee, said at the present state of construction there was too much work being done for classes to go on.

A second consideration, said Mr. Hume is a program of tests scheduled by the principal for a two-week period after the Christmas holidays. He suggested these would be difficult or impossible to hold in the partially completed building.

Reason for the delay in opening the school, said Mr. Hume is due to the millwork.

The subcontractor in that regard has "fallen down badly", he said. The over-all contractor has been thwarted. In no way is the delay due to him.

Combined with the delay connected with millwork, another slowdown was caused by a damaged shipment of glazing or windows. This resulted in a postponement in heating the building.

As heat was necessary to pour interior cement work, this was also deferred.

"All in all, said Mr. Hume, the building committee is not too unhappy with the situation. When the school does move in, the construction will be finished."

Some of the classrooms are finished now, he said, and we are "very pleased" with the work done. The building committee has been fortunate to have the type of supervision T. R. Carter has given the building, said Mr. Hume.

The date of opening school in the new building depends on how the situation progresses, he concluded.

ONE CHAMBER
Government in Paraguay consists of one chamber, with one member elected for each 25,000 inhabitants.

Full Slate Of Christmas Church Services Planned

Evidence that Christmas is a Christian holiday may be found in the large number of church activities over and above regular services during the Christmas season.

Churches in Kelowna have planned a broad variety of extra activities. The Anglican Church on Sutherland Ave. is planning a Christmas Eve midnight sung Eucharist that starts at 11:30.

Another feature is the Jan. 1 children's special service in which the junior choir will sing. Parents and children will attend this service to hear the rector's special message to the children. A collection will be taken that will be donated to the March of Dimes.

In a duplicate morning service at 9:20 and 11:00 in the First United Church, the church choir will sing selections from The Messiah. At the evening service at 7:30, the senior girls' choir will be singing Christmas music.

HIGH MASS
At the Immaculate Conception Church on Sutherland Ave., Solenn High Midnight Mass will be offered on Christmas Eve by the Very Rev. R. D. Anderson, administrator, assisted by Rev. F. M. Godderis, principal of the Immaculata High School as deacon and Rev. C. P. Mulvihill as sub-deacon.

The senior choir will begin singing carols at 11:40 p.m. Under the direction of Sister Mary Martina, the choir will sing the Midnight Mass Orbis Factor by Rev. Carl Rossini in four parts.

A Family Service will start at 11:00 a.m. at the First Baptist Church on Christmas Day. Special music will be sung by the members of the senior choir.

The Young People's group and the Sunday School combine their talents in the evening to put on a Christmas pageant. When Christ Was Born.

SPECIAL FILMS

The Seventh Day Adventists have skating parties and special films planned at the Academy at Rutland. A spokesman for the church said that dozens of students will be returning home from the Canadian Union College for the Christmas season and will be included in many of the season's festivities.

The First Lutheran Church plans a children's concert at 7 p.m. Saturday. Its regular service is at 9:45 a.m. Sunday, and its New Year's Eve service is at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 31.

The First Presbyterian Church held a special service last week, and only the regular services are planned for the Christmas and New Year's weekends.

The Mennonite Brethren Church plans a special Sunday school program for Saturday at 7 p.m. It will hold a special Christmas service at 11 p.m. on Christmas Day.

SMALL CHANGE IN TEMPERATURE

Cloudy skies over Kelowna and the valley in past weeks have slowed the rise and fall of area thermometers during the day. Thursday the high and low temperatures were a mere one degree apart.

Temperatures recorded were 55 and 54 respectively. This contrasts with November when fluctuations in temperature often exceeded 15 degrees.

Immigration to Canada has fluctuated with expansion and decline in the Canadian economy since a record 400,870 entered the country in 1913. Graph shows rise and fall in annual immigration totals from 1913 to 1960. The 1961 total is expected to fall below 100,000 for the first time since 1950. Immigration soared to the second highest point in 47 years when a booming economy and influx of Britons and Hungarians in 1957 pushed the total to 282,164. It declined sharply after that, levelling off at slightly more than 100,000 in 1959 and 1960. (CP Newsmag)

BLUEBIRD NOTES

CARS Announces Winner Of This Year's Contest

The auxiliary to the Kelowna branch of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society is pleased to announce the result of the 1960 contest for a dressed doll with clothes chest and stroller.

Drawing was held on Wednesday, Alister Cameron, president of CARS officiated, when the result was announced.

The winner was Mrs. Edith Hillier. Money obtained from the contest will be used locally for needed equipment, both for individual patients and for the clinic, and also for aid to welfare patients. The society would like to thank the general public for its generous co-operation in the contest.

During November, the physiotherapist, Miss Joan Critchley, gave 125 treatments to 42 patients. Treatments are given either at the clinic or in the homes, depending on the ability of the patient. Seven hundred and seven miles were travelled by Ruth Ladd, transportation coordinator, in giving these treatments.

Patients who cannot afford the cost of treatments are looked after by the society.

Miss Critchley spoke in the George Pringle High School, Westbank, in Ashcroft and Clinton, on physiotherapy. The response from the Westbank girls was excellent; five girls seemingly really interested.

The whole class of girls will visit both the CARS clinic and the Underhill clinic in the spring to see how treatments are given. During the Christmas season all patients were remembered with cards or little gifts or hampers and bigger gifts. The auxiliary members called on many of the patients.

A wheelchair was donated by Maurice Lane and his wife, and is now being used with great satisfaction by a patient who previously owned only a very antique and rickety chair. The auxiliary provides drivers for transportation of patients to and from the clinic. Mrs. Ladd, transportation coordinator, reports more drivers are needed.

Word Of Caution

The fact that safe-driving week is over should not mean that motorists and pedestrians can afford to take it easy. There is no need for a sharp rise in traffic accidents between now and the end of the year.

"Take it seriously" is good advice for all users of streets and highways. Take it seriously and you may still be in this world to celebrate Christmas and the New Year.

By "taking it seriously" is meant leaving your car behind you if you intend to indulge in anything stronger than coffee at holiday parties. Also motorists should adjust not only their cars to winter conditions, but their driving habits as well. They should reduce their speed on slippery roads, in fog, rain or snow, and at dark when it is time to switch on their headlights.

To those who make long trips it is suggested that coffee-breaks coupled with exercise every two hours helps. Drivers should make sure window wipers and defroster are in good condition at all times. And they should let a regular flow of fresh air through the car at all times.

A great many accidents could be prevented if pedestrians would avoid provoking car drivers by crossing on a red signal or between intersections, and if drivers would all behave as "real gentlemen of the road."

Always Need More Research

Dr. O. M. Solandt, Canadian National Railways vice-president of research and development, today appealed for greater government support for railroad research, in an address at the annual luncheon of the Association of Professional Engineers of British Columbia.

Governments in both Canada and the United States were spending large sums of money on research in support of industry, he said, notably air transport, electronics and chemical industries.

"It is clear that part of the solution to the railways' research problem is for governments to extend their research programs to give more adequate support to the railways," Dr. Solandt said.

This was only part of the solution, he emphasized. "The railways themselves must do more to work out their own salvation; in addition to putting more money into research, they must support more co-operative research on an industry-wide basis."

He described the research programs of the CNR and CPR as "among the largest and most effective in North America" and said that substantial and growing support had been forthcoming from the National Research Council.

Dr. Solandt broadly reviewed the research work now being conducted by the CNR to increase revenues and at the same time reduce expenses.

"There are good prospects of railways being able to regain some of their share of the market in the near future, both by improvement in methods and equipment and by selective reduction in rates," he said.

"Nonetheless, although railway revenues can be expected to rise slowly with the growth of the country, this rise will not be rapid enough to solve the financial problems of the railways.

"Therefore railway management must find ways of reducing costs. Basically this can only be done by increasing the productivity of labor and equipment."

He noted that since well over half of the total railway dollar goes on labor costs, the principal cost reductions must in the long run come from greater labor productivity. "It is therefore not surprising to find that all railway research centred around the fundamental problem of improving productivity while continuing to improve such very important factors as safety, speed and quality of service."

Looking to the future, Dr. Solandt said the fully automatic train is technically feasible, but a number of technical, organizational and management problems would have to be solved first. He said automatic trains already had been demonstrated in Europe, the United States and in Canada, but this did not mean that remotely controlled trains will be operating in Canada in the immediate future.

Dr. Solandt foresaw greater efficiency in the wider use of integrated data processing.

Another dream of railroad engineers, he said, was automatic car identification whereby a central computer would contain in its memory a complete record of the status of every car on the system, its mechanical condition, where it is going, where it has come from, and what it contains.

"With a system of automatic car identification reporting the passage of cars at key points throughout the system, the computer will always know the location and condition of every car," Dr. Solandt said.

In addition to the work being done by the CNR's own research staff, he said, the Advisory Committee for Railway Problems of the National Research Council also was carrying on an active program of technical research on behalf of all the Canadian railways. He estimated, however, that throughout the North American continent the total expenditure on research is only $10,000,000 a year—even though the total income of Class 1 railways approaches $10,000,000,000.

PERSONALLY SPEAKING

By THE VENERABLE D. S. CATCHPOLE

"AND THE ANGELS SING"

There is so much to be said for the jingle of the cash-register, I do not really believe this, although sometimes it is hard not to believe it. I do not really believe it because I know there are so many extremely good people in society. There are so many excellent things achieved. There are so many people who work hard for projects which they believe to be gems of the first water. If I do not always agree with them, that does not mean that their intentions are not good. It may mean that they are misguided; and that is why I want people to hear the angels sing.

Now, contrary to what the editor may think and certainly contrary to what some of the city fathers may believe, and absolutely contrary to what those who become infuriated with me may imagine, I usually have, under cover of my peculiar method of expressing myself, some ideal which is akin to hearing the angels sing. The trouble is that society does not like the song backward may be taught. I regret that I think no angel sang over the centennial hall project. I tried to make the angelic host burst forth in glee when the Memorial Arena was put up. Ever since, I have been wondering whether my efforts in that connection were not due to wishful thinking. Perhaps a few people still do remember that it is a Memorial Arena.

Now, however, it is nearly Christmas Day, and that was the time when (Dr. Brock Chisholm possibly dissenting) the angels really sang and their words are recorded in legend, in history, in Holy Writ (call it what you will): "Glory to God in the Highest and on earth peace to men of goodwill." The angels will go on singing if these two great ideas are continued; namely, if men so conduct themselves that they give glory to God and if, on earth, men of goodwill seek peace among themselves. Indeed, I am inclined to wonder whether even a godly imagination will be needed to hear the angels sing. I am not too sure that their voices will not drown out the jangling of Jingle Bells, a White Christmas, the Red Nosed Reindeer and the Night Before Christmas, together with the blandishments banged into our ears day and night by Trade. At last the noise of strife will die down and the racket in the bazaars and then, as Christmas Day dawns, a strangely sweet song may be heard—the song of the angels: "Glory to God in the Highest!" and "Peace on earth! Good Will to all people!" Perhaps the children even may hear the song just as they are awakening. Who knows?

REPORT FROM THE U.K.

By M. McINTYRE HOOD
Special London (Eng.)
Correspondent
For The Daily Courier

LONDON — There is a growing interest in the United Kingdom in the use of safety belts in automobiles as a means of preventing deaths and serious injuries in car accidents. This has grown to such an extent that from well-informed sources comes a report that built-in safety belt anchorages are certain to be made compulsory in all new cars when the government's new Road Safety Bill, expected to be introduced early in the new year, becomes law.

It is understood that Transport Minister Ernest Marples has already had some talk with car manufacturers to discuss safety belt anchorages. These talks are taken to indicate that the minister has some such compulsory provisions in mind for his new legislation. On the other hand, the car manufacturing firms are carrying out experiments to find the best types of holders or anchorages for belts, and the best position in which to place them in a passenger car.

Mr. Marples has a highly optimistic view as to the possible saving of life and serious injury by the use of these belts. He has indicated that in his opinion, they could save 700 lives a year, and protect 50,000 people a year from injury. If that could be achieved, he believes that to make the safety belt anchorages compulsory equipment would be worth while. The motor car industry takes the view that there are three main problems in connection with this proposal. They are:

Compulsory belts would raise car prices when the industry is trying desperately to reduce costs.

It would be difficult to make people wear the equipment if it were provided.

Strong belts would be useless unless attached to strong anchorages.

There is already a considerable campaign to persuade motorists to install safety-belts voluntarily. Members of the Royal family are backing this campaign. Princess Margaret, for instance, has had safety-belts fitted in the four cars, including two Rolls-Royces, which she uses. She has chosen for them diagonal cross straps similar to those which have been installed by Transport Minister Marples in his cars.

The British Standards Institute has already laid down minimum requirements for belts and harnesses.

Two other problems are causing Mr. Marples concern, those of vehicle noise and excessive exhaust fumes. He is waiting for reports on tests which are now being made, and has promised speedy action based on the results of these tests.

Tragedy Of Cape Coloreds Marked By Coon Carnival

Brian Barrow is a South African journalist long experienced in reporting on the problems of his country. In this story he discusses the position of the mixed-race Colored population of the Cape Peninsula.

By BRIAN BARROW

CAPE TOWN (CP) — Ironically, the Verwoerd government's latest blow at the hopes of Cape Town's Colored people has come almost on the eve of their most joyous and carefree festival.

They were already preparing for the yearly Coon Carnival, which starts at dawn on New Year's day, when the prime minister announced that from now on they must develop on lines strictly separate from other races. Perhaps more keenly than ever before, the splendor of this year's carnival will highlight their tragedy.

There are 1,500,000 Coloreds in South Africa, the product of racial mixture for many generations among Afrikaners, Englishmen, Frenchmen, Malays, Hindus, Africans and natives of India. Their social status is somewhere between the country's 10,000,000 black natives and 3,000,000 whites.

Always the approach of the new year has been highly important in the lives of the Coloreds. Thousands stream from their homes all over the peninsula and turn the streets of Cape Town into a brilliant riot of movement. They virtually take over the city. Long processions of "Coons" dressed in silk and bright as the sun dance and tumble through the streets to drumming banjos and thumping tambourines. They do not break the color bar. Even drunks are careful not to sit on park benches reserved for whites.

FORGET TROUBLES

The word Coon, incidentally, as applied to the carnival, is commonly used and is not regarded as derogatory.

Every day for a week, the top-hatted revellers dance to breath-taking rhythms as though to dance their troubles away. The gaiety is spontaneous. It is also said, there is always the feeling that this hilarious abandon is the childlike optimism of an unwanted people hoping for recognition.

Here in Cape Town and in the surrounding districts of the west, even provinces the great majority of these people have lived side-by-side with whites for nearly 300 years. They have been prevented by law from entering certain of human worth.

jobs, working in the orchards and vineyards and excelling in many crafts and trades. They have adopted the white man's language, culture and religion. They are a completely Western, civilized people, as different from the Africans as are the Europeans.

In color they range from dark brown to European pink. Scores of thousands could pass as whites. Every year hundreds make pathetic efforts to cross the color line. Many are related to some of the best white families. In any European country their assimilation would be a foregone conclusion. In South Africa the faintest touch of colored blood is still a grave social stigma, a mark of inferiority.

CHARMING PEOPLE

But the destiny of the Coloreds is inextricably linked to that of the whites. By every possible standard, except that of skin pigmentation, they are an integral part of white society. Since the war there has emerged a highly educated and talented Colored middle class: Businessmen, teachers, clergymen, doctors, lawyers, writers, artists, clerks, builders and artisans; people of amazing charm and vivacity.

Recently the most august Afrikaans cultural body in the Union, the Academy of Arts and Science, gave its highest literary award to the Colored poet, S. V. Petersen. Colored writers and intellectuals are helping to shape political attitudes. Coloreds have excelled as members of Britain's Royal Ballet. Colored artists have made their impact. The finest opera company in Africa is the Egon Group, an all-Colored company. Some years ago it refused a government subsidy rather than fulfill a condition that it not perform before mixed audiences.

The Colored people feel that the time for their social and political emancipation has arrived. They feel they have proved themselves; that only one barrier remains—the color of their skins, which they cannot help.

But ever since the Nationalist government came to power in 1948 with a mandate from the white electorate to implement apartheid, their rights and their hopes have been whittled away. They were removed from the common voters' roll, a right they held for a century.

Under the group areas act they have been forced to leave homes where they have occupied for generations. They have been prevented by law from entering certain of human worth.

Jobs. They have been embarrassed by laws that prevent mixed marriages and make love between white and Colored a crime.

A hard blow came in November when Prime Minister Verwoerd rejected direct Colored representation in Parliament and any form of integration. The prime minister said the only sort of new deal that could be considered must be along strict apartheid lines.

He followed this up in December by announcing that the Coloreds from now on would evolve on lines strictly separate from other races, with eventual local autonomy over their own areas.

The prime minister's uncompromising position has been welcomed by his extremist Nationalist supporters in the Transvaal and the Free State. But the more moderate Nationalists in Cape Province are openly shocked. Many of the Cape Nationalist leaders, especially the Afrikaans professors whose views carry enormous weight, have called for an end to political, economic and social discrimination against the Coloreds.

The political future of Dr. Verwoerd and of the Coloreds now depends on the stand the Cape Nationalists will take. If they openly oppose the prime minister's break-up of the Nationalist party and the present government will be inevitable. But if they decide, for the sake of Afrikaans Nationalist unity, to give him tacit support, apartheid will be placed on an even firmer and more uncompromising basis. And perhaps the 100-year struggle of the Colored people for their freedom and self-respect will be lost.

Yet, ironically, another domestic victory for Dr. Verwoerd would make his policy of apartheid more vulnerable than ever. Apartheid could perhaps be justified in the case of the Africans who have their own homelands, and whose backgrounds and stage of development are vastly different from the whites.

But to apply it forever to the Coloreds, who are a Western Christian people in every sense, would merely mean a declaration to the world that the whites in South Africa do in fact consider themselves a superior group destined to govern all other races in perpetuity.

It would destroy the moral basis of the Nationalists' claim for apartheid. If it would prove beyond all doubt that they consider color and not merit the criterion for governing human worth.

Seaway Business Expected To Pick Up During 1961

MONTREAL (CP)—It became apparent during 1960 that it may take more than the expected 50 years for the St. Lawrence Seaway to pay for itself. But officials expected business to perk up during 1961.

The cut in imports of iron ore by United States steel companies was a major reason why traffic on the inland waterway did not meet expectations for the second year in a row.

Preliminary statistics released by the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority show total cargo traffic in 1960 amounted to 18,020,137 tons to the end of October. In 1959 the April-October figure was 18,149,812.

It was touch-and-go whether the 1959 total of 20,350,000 tons would be surpassed when figures for last November are released in late January or February. Economists originally estimated that the seaway's business would approximate 25,000,000 tons in 1959; 29,000,000 in 1960 and a break-even level of 50,000,000 by 1968.

FIGURES DISCARDED
These estimates went out of fashion after 1959 but they had been the basis of the forecast that the seaway could pay for itself in 50 years. It cost $450,000,000.

Shipping officials here are of the opinion the estimates were over-optimistic and they are not met in 1961 mainly because some ocean shipping companies lack vessels of the type that can use the seaway conveniently. This situation may change in 1961 because several shipping firms are building ships especially for seaway use.

On the 1961 outlook: "We're going ahead with winter works projects designed to increase the efficiency of transits through the seaway and we are most hopeful that the 1961 navigation season will be the best yet."

Montreal harbor officials expect an increase in trans-shipment.

NEW OFFICIALS

The seaway came under new management in both the U.S. and Canada during 1960.

Mr. Rankin was named third president, succeeding B. J. Roberts. Lewis G. Castle, first administrator of the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation, U.S. counterpart of the Canadian authority, died in June and Martin W. Oettershagen, his deputy, was named acting administrator.

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—The Social Welfare Department here wants a larger staff so it can investigate applicants for benefits. But an official said the request has been shelved at Victoria until a cabinet decision on the question is handed down at the 1961 session of the provincial legislature.

TRUCK ON FIRE

QUESNEL (CP)—A giant semi-trailer freight truck, loaded with general freight, caught fire Thursday night on the Cariboo Highway near Soda Creek, south of here. Driver Peter Reddick and assistant Jack Stewart noticed smoke and disconnected the tractor from the trailer and confined the damage to the trailer and its cargo, which were a total loss.

Dutch Gov't Suffers Defeat

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—Premier Jan de Quay today offered the resignation of his coalition government to Queen Juliana following its defeat in parliament Thursday night on a housing project.

De Quay conferred with his ministers for an hour early today and then drove to Soestdijk Palace to present his resignation.

The 19-month-old government was defeated by a vote of 70 to 39 in the lower house of parliament because the majority felt its housing plan for next year was too meagre.

The government planned to subsidize the construction of 80,000 houses. Parliament passed a resolution demanding the figure be raised to 85,000.

This Just Goes To Show No One Can Ruin Christmas

NEW YORK (AP)—Once upon a Christmas Eve Santa Claus got mixed up.

He was late taking off from the north pole. When he landed his sled by the chimney atop the first home on his route, he searched impatiently for his spectacles to see which packages belonged there.

But his spectacles were gone! "I must have dropped them," said Santa. "I'll have to do the best I can."

So over the roofs of every land he flew, dropping off at each home packages he pulled from his bag by guess-work.

Morning came, and the greatest uproar mankind had ever known arose. Nobody in the whole world had received his own gift. Everybody had received somebody else's present.

Telephones everywhere jangled in complaint. The parliaments of every country were called into emergency session. So was the United Nations.

What could be done? It would take weeks or months for the mailmen to correct the errors. And meanwhile Christmas would be ruined!

The statesmen debated and debated. Finally a small boy stood up in the gallery of the United Nations and piped up:

"Why don't we just keep what Santa did bring us? As long as you get to open a package, it's still Christmas."

The diplomats hesitated a moment, then leaped to their feet and cheered. Why, of course that was the only possible answer. Everybody at heart wants something that belongs to somebody else. That's only human nature.

So around the world the word was flashed:

"Everybody open everybody else's present—and keep it or trade it."

So everybody did open everybody else's present. And were they surprised!

Little girls thrilled to find their packages held long-heeled shoes and lacy lingerie like mamas usually get.

Church Writer Says Cuba Revolution Has Gone Sour

A Canadian editor who recently concluded a two-weeks' survey on conditions in Cuba describes the Castro revolution as "a revolution that turned sour."

Rev. Dr. A. C. Forrest, editor of The United Church Observer, who was asked by Presbyterian Life (U.S.A.) to go to Cuba, writes in the current issue of The Observer: "Elections which the rebel leader promised have not been held and are not likely to be held; freedom for which the revolutionaries said they fought, is dead. The old motto 'Liberty or death' has been changed to 'Country or death.'"

Dr. Forrest reports that: "Press, radio and television in Cuba are almost completely controlled. The Cuban government brooks no open opposition. Only the communist party is legal. Many of Castro's original associates have defected; some have been jailed; others have fled for their lives; many took to the hills to join the counter-revolutionaries; others are underground in Havana."

So far, the Canadian editor writes, the Cuban churches have enjoyed relative freedom. Many Presbyterians are worrying about what may happen to their schools and some fear that next year they will be taken over. Others are just as certain Castro will not touch them.

Forrest reports that great numbers of Cuban people, including some of the most devout and self-sacrificing church people, still believe in Castro. He writes: "And even those who voice misgivings say, 'I'd rather have this than go back to the days of Batista.'"

The United Church Observer wants the slogan "Put Christ Back Into Christmas" abandoned.

That slogan has run its course, the United Church journal says. "Like most slogans, it both says too little and too much."

"Man doesn't put Christ anywhere," the Observer says in its current issue. "He is already in Christmas, and no matter how careless or profane the world has become, He will remain there."

Christ is in the good and the bad, the church paper points out. "He is in the drunken office parties, the Santa Claus parades, the Christmas concerts, and the Sunday worship—being crucified or being worshipped. And whether crucified or worshipped,

The Canadian churchman writes that he saw many old army barracks converted to new schools. "The government claims to have opened 10,000 school rooms in the past two years," he writes.

He loves His people." Canadians don't need to worry about Christ being lost from Christmas, the religious journal claims. "What most of us need to worry about is that we can't get Him out of Christmas, or out of the world."

"We don't put Christ anywhere but we do put ourselves where we belong by the way we respond to Him," The Observer says. "We judge ourselves by whether we receive and worship Him or try to reject Him by refusing to acknowledge His presence."

Describing the slogan, "Put Christ Back Into Christmas," as "distasteful" The Observer says that the slogan is "piousness, not piety," and it is "aesthetically distasteful and theologically unsound."

Conn Smyth In Favor Of NHL Russian Game

TORONTO (CP)—Conn Smyth, upholder of the prestige of Canadian hockey abroad, said today that he would support the proposed game between the National Hockey League and the Russian professional club next time they meet in Montreal.

He was commenting on a statement by Johnny Horeck, former manager-coach of Chatham Maroons who accompanied that team on a recent tour of the Soviet Union.

Horeck said Russian hockey players have progressed to the point where it will be necessary to send NHL teams to Europe to play them.

He said the Russian teams are only six years away from challenging the NHL.

Smyth said Thursday: "When the Russians are ready, they should put up a purse big enough to send NHL teams to Europe to play them."

He said the Russian teams are only six years away from challenging the NHL.

Skiing Good At Both Valley Sites

Skiing conditions at both Black Mountain and Silver Star are reported excellent.

At Silver Star slopes in Vernon there is a total of 20 inches in new snow and temperatures are above normal with readings of 28 and 34.

Road to the slopes was plowed Thursday and chains for cars are not required. All towns will be operating through the Christmas holidays.

The ski school at Silver Star is in session daily and persons may register at Karl's Sport House in Vernon.

At Black Mountain, slopes are covered well and the road in has been plowed since the recent snow fall. Snow tires or chains must be used.

Tows will operate on December 26, 27, 31 and January 1 and 2.

Russians Enter Three Horses In Big Race

LONDON (AP)—The Russians, who make a habit of doing well in any sport that attracts them, have entered three horses for the 1961 running of the Grand National Steeplechase.

It is the first time a Russian horse has entered in the 15-year-old classic.

The Grand National is generally regarded as the toughest race in the world. Horses have to jump 30 obstacles over a 4½-mile course.

The three Russian horses are Epigraff, Grifol and Relief. Epigraff is the big hope. He has won three steeplechases in Czechoslovakia over a course that's similar to the Grand National track at Aintree.

Pancho Gonzales Picks Italy In Davis Cup Play

SYDNEY (AP)—Professional champion Pancho Gonzales today picked Italy to win the Davis Cup and warned that Mexico may replace the United States as tennis king of the Americas.

"Now that Barry MacKay and Earl Buchholz have turned pro, I think Rafael Osuna of Mexico is the best amateur in the American zone," the swarthy Los Angeles star said in an interview.

"I am appraising the challenge round starting here Monday between Italy and Australia, Gonzales said: 'I am sticking my neck out and saying Italy will win either the best-of-five series 3-2 or 4-1.'

He said he bases his prediction on Nicola Pietrangeli, whom he regards as probably the No. 1 amateur in the world.

Rip Collins Named Coach Of Cubs

CHICAGO (AP)—James (Rip) Collins, 55, former Chicago Cub and St. Louis Cardinal first baseman, today was hired as a Cub coach.

It was the first coaching appointment since owner P. K. Wrigley said two days ago he may take on as many as eight coaches and have them name the National League club's manager.

Floyd Patterson Is 3-1 Favorite In Next Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson today was made an early line 3-1 favorite to beat Ingemar Johansson in their third title fight at the Miami Beach Convention Hall, March 20.

This should bring a big smile to Ingemar's face, since the betting choice in this rivalry has been knocked off twice.

Patterson was an almost prohibitive 5-1 favorite to win the first fight June 26, 1959, at Yankee Stadium. The big Swede, then unbeaten, blizzed Patterson on a seven-knockdown, third-round technical knockout.

A year later, June 20, 1960, at the Polo Grounds, Johansson was the 3-2 favorite. Patterson knocked Ingemar unconscious with a jolting left hook to the jaw in the fifth-round technical knockout.

The site and date for the rubber match were announced Thursday at press conferences in New York and Miami.

Maroons Lose First To Hot Czech Squad

PILSEN (CP)—Winnipeg Maroons dropped the first game of their Czechoslovakian exhibition hockey tour Thursday 3-0 to a fast-skating Pilsen team that was able to score in every period.

Manager Terry Hind of the Maroons said the Czechs deserved to win but he promised the Canadians would do better when they get used to the Czech style of play.

They have eight more games during their tour which ends Jan. 4. Hind said after the loss: "Our boys didn't play a really strong game but Pilsen certainly deserved their win. We played too cautiously to start with and our work around the net wasn't good."

A crowd of 11,000 turned out to cheer Pilsen Spartaks, who are at the top of the pack in Czechoslovakia's best hockey league.

The Czech passing was sharp and it paid off early in the first period when winger Haber completed a neat play, slapping the puck home from close-in.

CAPTAIN BAGS TWO

Spartak team captain Vachov scored the other two Czech goals, both from near the nets. His first came late in the second period, after the disc hit a Maroon player and dropped to the ice just outside the crease. Vachov merely poked it in. His second goal was less than three minutes left when the Canadians were a man shy.

The Maroons drew three of the game's four penalties.

As the game progressed the Canadians played better hockey but the staunch Czech defence didn't allow them many shots at the Spartak net.

Maroons goalie Don Collins, playing with little practice after a two-year retirement, was outstanding and the crowd applauded him repeatedly.

Said coach Gordon Simpson of the Maroons in giving the Czechs full credit for the win: "They outplayed us and their passing was perfect."

Tonight the Canadians play in Litvinov against another Czech team.

Erich Schoeppner Wants Ol' Arch

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission received a second certified cheque and challenge for Archie Moore's world light-heavyweight boxing title Thursday and notified the champion that he has 20 days in which to reach agreement with a challenger.

The $2,500 cheque and challenge came from Erich Schoeppner, West Germany's European champion. Previously, Doug Jones of New York challenged Moore and deposited $2,500 forfeit money.

The National Boxing Association has stripped Moore, from San Diego, Calif., of his title for failure to defend it in a six-month period but he still is recognized as the ruler in New York State.

Royalites Alone in 2nd After Nipping Penticton

Royalites 72 Dealers 63

Kelowna Royalites, packing a completely revamped defence, moved into sole possession of second place in the International Basketball League Wednesday night.

The Orchard City hoopsters came back strong in the second of two overtime periods to dump the Penticton Dealers 72-68 in the Peach City.

The victory gave Kelowna a total of three wins against as many losses. Oroville Merchants lead the new league with four wins and two losses and Penticton is in the cellar with two victories and four defeats.

IMPROVED DEFENCE

The Royalites, who started the season with a leaky defence, have displayed a gradual improvement and are now in well-organized shape.

They are getting set for the British Columbia championships which are to be held in Kelowna sometime in February. Teams from all parts of the province will compete in the playdowns.

Wednesday night's contest was a nip and tuck battle from the first throw.

Royalites took a halftime lead of 33-29 but were outscored 27-23 in the final session to wind up in a deadlock.

After five minutes overtime the count was still tied 52-52 but in the final five minutes Royalites outplayed the Dealers 10-6 to emerge victorious.

Vern Burnell with 16 points and Harvey Raymond with 14 markers were the Kelowna team's big marksmen while Don Puddy and Ted Bowsfield paced Penticton with 18 points each.

Eratt 2, Total 72.

Penticton: Puddy 18, Preen 4, Young 4, Burgart 7, Bowsfield 18, Meno, Grant, Kuehn 14, Reiss 3, Basso, Total 68.

Robinson Top Slogger In National

CINCINNATI (AP)—Frank Robinson's batting average and home run output declined in 1960 but the Cincinnati Red outfielder still won the National League slugging championship, official averages confirmed today.

Robinson came up with a .395 slugging percentage with 216 total bases in 464 times at bat. However, his batting average was only .297 as compared with .311 in 1959. He had 31 home runs in 1960 and 36 in 1959.

Robinson succeeded Hank Aaron of Milwaukee Braves as the slugging champion. Aaron finished second last season with .396.

Gaber Holds Wide Lead In OSHL Scoring Race

KELOWNA (CP)—Fred Gaber, 23-year-old centreman with the Kelowna Chiefs, is running away with the Okanagan Senior Hockey League scoring race according to statistics released Thursday.

Playing his first full season in senior company, Gaber has accumulated 23 goals and a league leading 42 assists for 68 points in 23 games played.

Seventeen points back are runners-up Rex Truple also of Kelowna and Walt Peacock of the Kelowna - Penticton Combines, each having 51 points.

Bob Gannon another Kelowna player is in third place with 46 points.

John Panagrot of Kamloops has taken over the netminders race, pushing Vernon's Hal Gordon to second. Panagrot has a 4.54 average.

Smokies Break Tie To Down Nelson 7-4

TRAIL (CP)—Trail Smoke Eaters broke away from a second-period tie to defeat Nelson Maple Leafs 7-4 Thursday night before 4,350 Western International Hockey League fans, one of the season's best crowds.

The Smokies led 2-1 at the first break but were held scoreless in the second period while Nelson made it 2-2. Then the Trail club rammed in five of seven last-period goals for the victory.

Addy Tambellini led the Trail scoring with three goals while Norm Lenardon, Dave Russell, Cal Hockley and Laurie Bursaw added singles.

Fritz Koehle, Bill Taylor, Ernie Gare and Don McKenzie scored for the Leafs.

Koehle opened the first period of scoring at 5:42. He was followed by Trail's Tambellini and Lenardon. Four penalties were handed out in the period, two to each team.

The only goal of the second period was scored by Taylor when he came from behind to jam the puck into the net.

The third period was wide open. Russell started things rolling at the 24-second point, followed by Nelson's Gare three minutes later.

Hockley and Tambellini scored two goals for the Smoke Eaters in rapid succession before McKenzie came back for the final goal for the Leafs.

Tambellini got his third goal of the night at 16:47 of the third frame to stand the score at 6-4 in favor of Trail. Bursaw got the last goal of the game at 18:07 when he went in on a solo drive to slap the puck into the net.

The game was held up once in the first period, and once in the third on disputed goals. In the first period the goal judge was forced to resign.

Nelson's Ted Lebeda collected his third penalty in the dying moments of the game, when he appeared Trail captain Hockley. Trail outshot Nelson 37-27.

GOLFING

with ALEX MORRISON

Teacher of Champions

In matter of distance, narrow faced clubs tend to loft the ball. Deeper faces give lower flights.

IN SEEKING an explanation for excessive loft in the flight of your longer shots you should consider the width of clubface on your distance clubs. Also you should carefully observe the arc or path in which your clubhead travels in your longer swings.

A relatively narrow clubface tends to send the ball in a higher than normal flight. The deeper clubface generally affords a lower trajectory. For this reason the face of a driver is made much deeper than the faces of the number two, three and four woods. The same thing applies to the width of clubface for long irons.

An even greater influence on the loft in the flight of the ball is the arc of your swing. The various arcs are like the outline of an egg. In the bottom of the swing the arc might be extremely up and down like an egg standing on end or it might be that of the egg resting on its side.

The more the clubhead travels abruptly up and down the more loft in the flight of the ball.

Jungle Chaos Kept World's Eye Focused On Africa During 1960

By DAVID ROWNTREE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Jungle chaos and surging nationalism kept the world's attention focused on Africa during much of 1960 but the year's biggest single news event was the election of a new American president.

Nearly a score of new nations were created in Africa during the last 12 months. The birth pangs of one, The Congo, were particularly violent and even now the fledgling nation's continued life is uncertain.

Belgium completed its hasty handover of responsibility for that sprawling land on June 30. Six days later the army mutinied. Belgium sent in paratroopers to restore order and protect lives.

The Congolese asked the United Nations for help, setting off a sequence of events that has sapped the UN of much of its cash assets and exposed it to abuse from half a dozen sides.

South of The Congo, the white supremacist government of Prime Minister Hendrick Verwoerd won a vote of confidence when the electorate agreed South Africa should become a republic, probably in 1961.

South African Negroes protested at a humiliating law which requires them to carry passes at all times. About 70 were killed and more than 200 wounded when police fired on demonstrators at Sharpeville March 21 and 22.

ASSASSINATION TRY

On April 9, Verwoerd, opening an exposition marking the 50th anniversary of the Union of South Africa, was shot twice in the head by a white farmer. The seismologist recovered.

In Algeria, the nationalist rebellion against France dragged into its seventh year. President de Gaulle's plan for a referendum early in 1961 that may give Algerians greater political autonomy proved unpopular with right-wing politicians and European settlers in Algeria. Eight Europeans and 116 Moslems were killed during furious December rioting.

Elsewhere, there were other violent demonstrations against prevailing governments.

Opponents of Haile Selassie seized the opportunity of the Ethiopian Emperor's absence in Brazil to attempt a coup d'etat. The effort failed but the death toll in a two-day reign of terror was officially estimated at 2,000.

Syngman Rhee resigned as president of South Korea in the face of student-led riots and charges of election fraud. In Turkey, students protested curbs on civil and political liberties.

The army seized power, removing Adnan Menderes from office. A United States-Japanese security treaty signed in Washington in January bore bitter summer fruit. Rioters angry at the country's involvement in the cold war forced Premier Nobusuke Kishi to ask President Eisenhower to cancel a planned tour of Japan. Kishi then resigned.

WAS SECOND BLOW

The humiliation for Eisenhower was the second in two months. On May 1, an American U-2 reconnaissance plane was shot down deep inside Soviet territory while on a spying mission, two weeks before the long-awaited summit conference at Paris.

It was never held. Khrushchev refused to begin the talks unless Eisenhower formally apologized for the U-2 incident.

An attempt to repair the shattered hopes of a summit meeting when world leaders converged in the UN General Assembly session in September produced nothing. There was much emphasis on name-calling, and Khrushchev was so angered one day that he pulled off a shoe and banged his desk with it.

On disarmament and other pressing matters, there was a strong Jones, in a glittering Westminster Abbey ceremony May 6.

The voters' choice, by an exceedingly slim margin, was the Democratic party's selection, John F. Kennedy, at 43 the youngest man and the first Roman Catholic elected to the office.

Of nearly 69,000,000 votes cast, Kennedy received 49.7 per cent. Vice-President Nixon, the Republican standard-bearer, got 49.6 per cent and the other candidates picked up the remaining .7 per cent. Kennedy received 309 electoral college votes out of a possible 537. He needed 269 to win.

NEW BABIES

It was a year of some notable births: Prince Andrew, second in line to the throne, Feb. 19; a son to the shah of Iran and his queen, Oct. 31; and a son to President-elect and Mrs. Kennedy Nov. 25.

The year also noted the marriage of Princess Margaret, 29, to a commoner, Antony Armstrong-Jones.

Disasters claimed thousands of lives. An estimated 4,500 persons were killed when earthquakes, a tidal wave and fire devastated the Moroccan resort town and port of Agadir early in the year.

In May, a series of earthquakes, huge mountain slides, volcanic eruptions and tidal waves took perhaps 6,000 lives in Chile.

Typhoons and tidal waves claimed an estimated 12,000 victims in East Pakistan in the fall.

Just before Christmas, two airliners collided over New York, with one of them falling into a populated part of the city. And in Munich, Germany, a U.S. Air Force plane crashed on top of a crowded streetcar. One hundred eighty-four persons died in these tragedies which were quickly followed by a fire aboard a still uncompleted aircraft carrier in New York, taking nearly 50 more lives.

Royal Wedding Photo Tops In Competition

LONDON (CP) — A radiant color picture of Princess Margaret in her wedding coach, which Canadians admired in their weekend newspapers last May, has won a first prize from the Encyclopedia Britannica in its annual awards for press photography.

The photographer, Joe Walcott, is a British freelance who contributes to the Montreal Star and Weekend magazine, its syndicated supplement.

The competition drew 61 entries from Canada, Britain, South Africa, Australia and Cuba.

MOTOR MINDED

At the beginning of 1960 Canada has more than 5,000,000 motor vehicles, one for every 3.5 persons.

Nearly 1,000 Australians operate jet fighter and bomber squadrons at Butterworth, Northern Malaya.

Ontario Digs Out Of Snowsqualls

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Snowplow crews fought against stiff winds and drifting snow today to keep open roads in various parts of southern Ontario following heavy snowsqualls Thursday which forced hundreds of motorists to seek refuge in homes, public halls and wherever they could find shelter.

Provincial police in Belleville reported Highway 2 open after being blocked for several hours by the storm, which swept in off the Great Lakes.

The highways department weather office at Toronto said 18 inches of snow fell in the Brighton and Trenton area in eastern Ontario.

Women Extend Their Grip On Canada's Public Life

By EDNA BLAKELY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Women extended their representation in public life in Canada during 1960 with the appointment of two grandmothers to the Senate, a federal byelection victory in Ontario and the appearance of the first woman member in the Nova Scotia legislature.

Mrs. Joanna Quart, 62, of Sillery, Que., and Mrs. Olive Irvine, 64, of Winnipeg, joined five other women in the Senate. Mrs. Quart is president of the Women's Progressive Conservative Association of Canada and Mrs. Irvine is a former school teacher.

Judy Labaree, 35-year-old lawyer, became the 11th woman to be elected to the Commons. She won Niagara Falls for the Liberals and joined three Progressive Conservative women MPs—Immigration Minister Ellen Fairclough, Jean Casselman and Margaret Atken.

Glady's Porter, 65, mayor of the Annapolis Valley town of Kentville, broke the male monopoly in the Nova Scotia legislature when she won Kings North for the Progressive Conservatives.

CHARLOTTE BACK

And at the municipal level, Charlotte Whitton returned as mayor of Ottawa after an absence of four years.

Politics wasn't the only field in which the ladies made their mark. Mary Louise Lynch, Saint John, N.B., lawyer, became the first of her sex to serve on the National Parole Board. Beragere Gaudet was certified as Montreal's first female notary.

Equal rights with men got a boost in Halifax when women got their first chance in 20 years to serve on juries. There had been no legal barrier but it was the practice to omit their names from the jury lists. Alderman Abbie Lane spearheaded the demand for the change.

Women were prominent in the affairs of immigration, and not simply because the federal department is headed by a woman minister.

The most celebrated immigrant was an internationally famous beauty, Gina Lollobrigida, who chose Toronto as her home in order to establish citizenship for her stateless husband, Dr. Milko Scovic, and their son.

The 2,000,000th immigrant since the end of the Second World War was a young lady, 16-year-old Annette Toft of Denmark, who arrived in December and went to live in Calgary.

Two other women fought to remain in Canada. Ireni Rebrin, 33-year-old lecturer in Russian at the University of British Columbia, appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada against a deportation order. In Ottawa, Mrs. Louis Yuet Sun, 28, of Hong Kong, fought to stay in Canada with her son, born here while visiting her father.

Canadians had reason to be proud of the sports accomplishments of two young women. Anne Heggtveit of Ottawa established herself as the world's best woman skier when she won a gold medal at the Winter Olympics in Squaw Valley, Calif.

Toronto figure skater Barbara Wagner of Toronto teamed up with Bob Paul to win Canada's only other Olympic gold medal, capturing the pairs championship. They later turned professional.

Less welcome publicity came to Joan Johnson Abbott, 27-year-old Toronto model, who was dubbed "Shady Lady" by Toronto newspapers after she posed as a professional divorcee.

spondent on a CBC TV show. Later she said her story was a hoax.

TWO ANNIVERSARIES

The Canadian Girl Guides marked their golden jubilee in 1960 and the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire celebrated its 60th birthday. And in Nova Scotia legislature.

New 'Bullet' Can Pierce Armor

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

Doubling Thomas: You want me to catch pneumonia? M. D.: What's all this about pneumonia? You've got a cold, and penicillin won't help. It might even hurt. D. T.: How? M. D.: Your intestine is a battleground where millions of germs fight to survive. A chronic food shortage limits any population explosion. D. T.: What's all this got to do with a shot of penicillin? M. D.: No germ killer kills all germs. After most germs have been done in by antibiotics, those that remain live off the fat of the land. Result: A germ population explosion. STAPH GERMS D. T.: Are you talking about those staph germs? M. D.: Yes. Staph germs laid your friend, Artie, low last year. You remember—when he had pneumonia. D. T.: Gee, staph germs caused his pneumonia? BULLET-PROOF VEST M. D.: No, by the time penicillin and its cousins had cured his pneumonia, they had killed almost every intestinal germ except staph, which has grown a bullet-proof vest that antibiotic drugs can't penetrate. So when staph bacteria took over, they gave him bad food poisoning? D. T.: Food poisoning? M. D.: He had the same symptoms — dry heaves, painful cramps, intestinal rivers and fever. We cured him with newer antibiotics that pierce bacterial bullet-proof vests. But staph is only one of many trouble-makers. Even harmless germs can grow into raging mobs that overwhelm your intestinal defenses. All they need is plenty of food—and no competition! D. T.: Bacteria certainly are complicated. FUNGUS TROUBLE M. D.: Antibiotics, yes! They can also start fungus trouble. D. T.: Fungus? M. D.: Little molds that light up fiery patches of red, itchy skin at both ends of the digestive tract. They may even invade your bloodstream and threaten life if you're not strong. D. T.: Can drugs cure fungus? COMBINATION MEDICINES M. D.: Yes, some medicines combine both fungus-killer and antibiotics in the same capsule—just in case. Vitamin B also helps. D. T.: That's enough. No unnecessary penicillin for me. And the next guy who tells me to get a shot for my cold— Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. CONTRACT BRIDGE

QUIZ You are South, neither side vulnerable. The bidding has been:

North East South West
1♠ Pass 1♥ Pass
2♠ Pass ?

What would you now bid with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠AK ♥KQ853 ♦86 ♣Q962
2. ♠973 ♥AQ74 ♦KQ10 ♣AJ6
3. ♠K7 ♥QJ9852 ♦QJ4 ♣A5
4. ♠J82 ♥AJ985 ♦9843 ♣J7
5. ♠QJ64 ♥AQ752 ♦K53 ♣K5

1. Three clubs. An opening bid facing an opening bid means game. Obviously, a game must be reached with this hand, but we are not in position at the moment to know where the best game contract is likely to lie.

The three club bid (forcing) tells partner we have the values for an opening bid, that a club fit exists, and that a game contract is feasible in clubs, hearts, or notrump, depending upon his hand.

2. Three notrump. This bid shows balanced distribution and 16 or 17 high-card points. It therefore constitutes a mild form of slam try. A jump to two notrump would show 13 to 15 points and no interest in a slam.

3. Three hearts. While the hand is satisfactory for notrump play if partner has the appropriate values, the main effort should be directed towards reaching a game.

In hearts, if North is unable to raise the suit and bids three notrump, the plan is to pass. In that event, our 13 high-card points, will distributed in all suits, should make three notrump the best contract. The three heart bid is forcing.

4. Pass. The chance of a game is remote and the only problem is to find the best part-score contract. While there might be a better spot than one spade, it is hardly worth climbing up the ladder in search of it. Partner might take any further bid seriously, and there is no reason to run this risk.

It should be noted that the change of suits by the opening bidder does not force the responder to bid again. The forcing principle applies only when responder names a new suit.

5. Four spades. A raise to two spades in this sequence ordinarily shows nine or ten points. A rise to three spades would show a hand of roughly 14 points. The jump to four spades, since it is a stronger bid than three spades, shows interest in a slam, and indicates about 16 or 17 points. In all these cases, the distributional values are counted in addition to the high-card values.

The sequence given is different from the case where dealer opens with one spade and responder jumps to four spades. This is a no-trump bid used to show long trumps and few high cards.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW A stimulating and invigorating day, with personal matters, social activities and community affairs under especially generous aspects. If making plans, however, be realistic.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY Your outlook for the next year is very encouraging. The best use of your skills and talents could prove highly profitable, not only from the standpoint of advancement, but also as relates to your pocketbook. Especially good opportunities to advance your financial interests will occur throughout the next nine months.

Be conservative in operations, however, and do avoid extravagance during next March and August.

1961 should be highly stimulating where personal relationships are concerned. February should bring you some excellent news, possibly of a romantic nature. Travel is encouraged in July and August. Next September promises some brand-new career activities for those in creative and inventive lines. A child born on this day will be endowed with fine executive ability and resourcefulness, but may be too susceptible to flattery.

Childishness Blamed For Most Marriage Failures

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Growing up for marriage, the best climate for your heart, and holiday teeth problems are subjects this week with a focus on health.

LOVE AND MARRIAGE

Do most marriages fail for lack of love, or understanding or understanding of mutual need?

Perhaps some do. But, for the most part, marriages fail because one or both partners still rely on the attitudes and needs of childhood. Their personalities never really grew up, suggests Dr. N. Q. Brill of the University of California medical school.

Divorce is often an escape, not a solution. When the divorcee remarries, he or she merely exchanges one set of peculiarities for another. Dr. Brill adds:

"It is obvious that the flimsy excuses that are given publicly for divorces are not the real reasons or the whole story."

HEART WEATHER

Southern California — especially the coast between Los Angeles and San Diego — is nearly ideal for the heart patient all year around, two New York researchers report.

Since weather and the working of the heart are related, it is sometimes advisable to shift the heart patient to a better climate, say Drs. Louis A.

Kapp and James K. McGuire. Coastal Florida is also good in the winter, but too hot in summer. And Los Angeles itself should be avoided because of smog, they add.

HOLIDAY CHEWING

Advice from the American Dental Assn.:

Don't use your teeth to open hard shell nuts such as walnuts or pecans. If you eat holiday sweets and cakes, brush your teeth soon afterwards to prevent decay. Don't try to show off in front of guests by opening bottle caps with your teeth. Don't use your teeth to bite string or ribbon from Christmas presents. All of these acts are invitations to teeth damage.

LEAN, HUNGRY LOOK

The fat baby is often cute, but not likely to be as healthy as the lean baby, a doctor says.

Obesity is as serious a problem of malnutrition for children as it is for adults, reports Dr. C. G. King of the Nutrition Foundation.

One report indicates that American children are on the average 10 per cent too heavy.

MILK ESSENTIAL

Up to 12 years of age children need at least a pint of milk daily, and adolescents should have 1½ pints.

SONS OF FRANCE

The largest single racial group in Canada consists of persons of French origin—31 per cent.

Unemployment Will Be Canada's Top Domestic Problem In 1961

OTTAWA (CP) — Barring war or an unexpected spurt in the economy, the swollen ranks of the unemployed will remain Canada's top domestic problem for a good part of 1961.

That's the outlook as 1960—a bad year for jobs—draws to a close.

Toward the end of the year the federal government stepped in with what it called a "vigorous" attack on the problem which is a deep-seated, painful, public symptom of a more general economic ailment gripping North America.

It moved to set up a productivity council, a 25-man body to oil the wheels of efficiency, to prod and push Canada's production ahead and, as a result, to open up more jobs.

It also offered a carrot to the provinces to build more schools to prepare workers for the automation era—a spend-more program with the federal purse putting up 75 per cent of the capital costs for vocational schools.

With its municipal workers program, new loans to small business, more generous mortgage terms in housing and other legislation, the government sought to inject new life into the economy.

The parliamentary opposition abroad. For Works Minister Walter Diefenbaker, the measures commended by the government are, however, criticized for not tackling the immediate trouble, not doing enough to uncover new and steady jobs for the jobless—429,000 in November, who faced an uncertain winter.

There was still some question as to exactly who the unemployed are, why they can't find jobs, where they live. A special Senate committee put a small team of researchers to work on the problem and some of the answers were emerging at the year's end.

Taking another tact, Prime Minister Diefenbaker summoned leaders in industry, labor, commerce, finance and trade, as well as others, to a conference on employment. Main result: The productivity council plus a better idea of what people are thinking and proposing on the jobless issue.

The government also tossed out the old two-standard measure of unemployment, coming up with a new yardstick that has for the first time official sanction. It measures people without jobs and seeking work, plus those who are laid off temporarily.

Business sought more incentives to commit capital to new works, lower taxes to free money for investments, a better interest rate, a lower premium on the dollar.

At the end of this year, with the nation facing what could be the worst winter for unemployment in 15 years, nearly seven of every 100 workers were without jobs in Canada.

It reached 10 per cent in the winters of 1953 and 1960.

UNEMPLOYMENT ranked as the top domestic problem in Canada in 1960 and is expected to hold that position for most of 1961. Graph shows Canadian unemployment from 1953 to 1960 as a percentage of the total labor force. It reached 10 per cent in the winters of 1953 and 1960.

Phones Too Public In Japanese Capital

TOKYO (AP)—Tokyo is having trouble with the handy, bright red public telephones that dot the city's sidewalks, shops and stores.

The phones, numbering almost 20,000, are on tables, counters and ledges in easy reach of the busy passing public. They also have turned out to be in easy reach of persons more interested in cash than calls.

The Telegraph and Telephone Corporation reports thefts keep increasing as more phones are installed. It has asked police to patrol the phones more closely.

Winnipeg Organist Dies In England

BRISTOL, England (CP)—Bruce Moore, 68, one-time organist at St. Luke's Church, Winnipeg, died recently at his home in nearby Cleve.

Moore emigrated to Canada in 1930 and for six years, until he returned to England, he operated a farm at Manitou, Man. He was a conductor of the Manitou town band for a time and was organist at St. Luke's from 1932 to 1936.

But the problem of the fund and unemployment itself seemed to be wrapped up in a bigger ailment, a recession slowing Canada's over-all growth. The solution to this involves international trade, monetary policy, taxation, even the weather. The chief accent appeared to be moves to bolster demand. For Trade Minister Hees, this means pushing Canadian sales
